CHILDREN BOY'S BODY FATHER BOY'S FEAR FOUL PLAY

GLoucester BOY'S BODY IS FOUND

Gloucester, May 20 (AP)—The body of seven-year-old Donald C. Brown, missing since Tuesday night, was found in the harbor here today.

Because one side of his head—the left—had been torn away, authorities were inclined to believe the boy was killed before his body was hurled into the water. Whether he was the victim of a hit-and-run accident, or of a hit-and-run victim, police were not prepared to say, pending arrival of Medical Examiner Ira B. Hill.

More than 500 persons were combing the woods and marshes near the boy's home when the municipal fire whistle signaled the end of the search.

POPULAR NEWSBOY
The drowned boy was one of seven children and was widely known because of being a newsboy and selling candy.

Thodore Baptiste, Jr., 16-year-old fisherman, was the body floating at low tide near Jordan's. He notified police and they put out a small powerboat to recover it.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Freeman of Harbor place. His father is a fisherman and the three boys were familiarly known as "Crackers."

He was last seen within a few hundred yards of his home, Tuesday night, chatting with an official of a taxicab concern.

MOTHER COLLAPSES
The youngster was fairly large for his age, with blonde clipped hair. He was clad in overalls, a blue sweater and black shoes. His cap—a baseball type of cap—was gone.

Francis Morand, the taxi official who saw him last night, told City Marshal Frank S. Parsons that the boy was only talking commonplace. When he saw him, however, Weston U. Friend, however, from the beginning was inclined to believe that there was something mysterious in the boy's disappearance.

The mother of the child was alerted at news of the finding of the body.

Endeavour I Loses Tow in Midcoast

Newport, R. I., May 20 (AP)—Endeavour I, possible British contender for the America's Cup, parted her tow line last Friday about 1000 miles off Newport, lost contact with her convoy, the yacht Viva, and proceeded under her own sail for the scene of the approaching international sailing classic.

This was learned today when the Viva arrived alone.
Captain Wallace Grint of the Viva, allayed much of the apprehension over safety of Endeavour I and her crew of 16 by saying the big sloop reported "all well" and that she was proceeding on a south-westerly course at six knots.
"Captain Grint said he searched more than 40 hours for Endeavour I before heading for Newport alone. Apparently, he said, Endeavour I radio broke down and this made the task of finding her to a 50-mile gale virtually impossible.

Viva, according to Captain Grint, last was in radio communication with the big racing sloop, Friday evening. She then reported her position as latitude 38-55 north, longitude 44-58 west.

"There is no reason to believe she is in any difficulty," he said. "She has a capable navigator aboard."

They pointed out that, while the dedicated monarch had probably been embittered by the decision that no members of the royal family would attend his wedding to Mrs. Wallis Warfield, any suggestion he might head a fight against the advisers of King George VI was "fantastic."

Dispatches from Paris reported persons close to Windsor said he considered the same quarters that led him to abdicate were now attempting to curtail his brother's influence, so he might marry Miss Warfield, his friends here said, was "fantastic."

The first result of Edwards' abdication, so he might marry Miss Warfield, his friends here said, was "fantastic."

FEAR DIKE'S PLANS PERIL MONARCHY

London, May 20 (AP) Friends of the Duke of Windsor expressed the fear today that any effort on his part to carry out his reported determination to bolster the influence of the royal family would backfire with the gravest possibility of injury to the institution of the monarchy itself.

They pointed out that, while the dedicated monarch had probably been embittered by the decision that no members of the royal family would attend his wedding to Mrs. Wallis Warfield, any suggestion he might head a fight against the advisers of King George VI was "fantastic."

Dispatches from Paris reported persons close to Windsor said he considered the same quarters that led him to abdicate were now attempting to curtail his brother's influence, so he might marry Miss Warfield, his friends here said, was "fantastic."

Troy, N. Y., Home Of Mystery Girl

MARY V. DAVENPORT
Finally Tells Her Real Name

She was only fooling—that pretty young girl found by police in a Back Bay hotel. She is not really any of the three persons she said she was yesterday, and she still thinks it isn't any business of the police.

But since they were going to hold her until she told, she confided to police today that she is Mary V. Davenport, 18, of West Troy, N. Y., released from the Hudson River State Hospital in New York on March 23.

That was the latest "confession" of the attractive young woman found by police yesterday as she sat in her room at a Back Bay hotel, smoking English cigarettes and reading heavy volumes on psychology.

Identity of the girl as Mary V. Davenport, of which the police were skeptical for a time, was definitely established after doctors at the hospital said she was.

HITLER'S IRE UP OVER U. S. 'INSULTS'

Berlin, May 20 (AP)—A "vigorous and energetic" protest to the United States Government by Dr. Hans H. Dieckhoff, German ambassador to Washington, was disclosed today as Nazi Germany's newest reaction to an anti-Hitler speech by George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago.

An official communique issued by the German news agency, D. N. B., said:

"The German embassy at Washington made energetic representations to the United States State Department on account of the silly and tactless insults to the Fuehrer and Reich Chancellor by Chicago Cardinal Mundelein."

(At Washington, it was stated the representations were made informally.)

An official spokesman, discussing the protest, said Dr. Dieckhoff's general instructions to stand for no "insult" to Adolf Hitler and his regime were explicit, and that the Cardinal's representations "followed automatically in the wake of his duties."

Dr. Dieckhoff is just beginning his career as German Ambassador at Washington. He recently succeeded Dr. Dieckhoff.

ROBINSON MAY GO TO BELMONT TO MEET WITH JUDGE PLAN

4 MORE JUSTICES TO SIT IN HIGH COURT, LEWIS SAYS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Washington, May 20.—Appointment of Senator Joseph T. Robinson (D., Arkansas), to the Supreme Court and passage of a bill increasing the tribunal to eleven justices were urged today by Senate administration leaders as a compromise for President Roosevelt's judicial program.

The move was started without consultation with the President and apparently without knowing his attitude. Robinson, open declaration was made by Senator Joseph Hamilton Lewis, administration senate whip, that four more judges—Robinson, Nathan, Sutherland, Cardozo and Brandeis—would retire before mid-summer.

DRIVE FOR ROBINSON
The drive in behalf of Robinson, who has been majority leader of the Senate since President Roosevelt entered the White House, assumed extraordinary proportions.

There was talk of circulating a petition to be signed by every member of the Senate, Democrats, Republicans and Independent alike, asking the President to name Robinson to the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Sutherland.

Robinson will be 65 years old in August. He served ten years in the House before becoming governor of Arkansas in 1923, then for two years in the Senate. He was elected to the Senate in 1926 and assumed the majority leadership on March 4, 1927.

Friends of Robinson declared his appointment to the Supreme Court would go far toward paving the way to a compromise on the judicial bill. Both friends and foes of the President's plan asserted Robinson was qualified and eligible, despite the recent enactment of a Supreme Court retirement act.

HINT AT COMPROMISE
It was difficult to place emphasis on the fact that Robinson was a Democrat, but his friends persisted in pointing out how the Robinson appointment would end a compromise. With the bipartisan pact, they contended, legislation, or a compromise, would be passed.

Bride, 19, Injured In 15-Foot Fall

MRS. LORELLA HALFKENNY
Next time that she pushes the bedroom window screen to the top, she'll remember it, Mrs. Lorella Halfkenny, 19-year-old bride, promised today.

The young woman was waiting for Boston City Hospital doctors to X-ray the bones in her arms and legs after dropping 15 feet from the window of her apartment in Whitford street, Mattapan.

What made it worse was that she was married only two weeks ago today, Mrs. Halfkenny said. "That's a nice way to start married life, isn't it?" she wanted to know.

The attractive young bride was found in the passageway between her house and the next one. She explained that the lower section of a window "broke" and she pushed so hard she fell out. She thought the screen was there all the time. She was married to Peter Halfkenny at Providence, R. I., on May 4.

To demonstrate beyond question the King of England has no political power.

Any move by the exiled-forfeited king, King George VI, would be the personal influence of King George VI, reborn with disavowed results.

Windsor's friends, who were not surprised by her as on himself and Mrs. George VI, as shown by his successful demand for withdrawal of Geoffrey Dawson's coronation committee in consideration of his position.

In the other hand, they pointed out, his entire course since he left England last December had been in keeping with his announced intention of giving King George a "clear run."

NO EARLY RETURN
Windsor was not expected by his associates to return to London with his bride until the celebration of the centennial of the birth of the monarch, which would be touched off with his abdication.

This, they indicated, would make it impossible for him to visit the United States in the near future.

The announcement of the Duke of Windsor's return to the United States, which was made in London, was the possibility of an early return to the United States, which was made in London.

Duke Ready to Fight For Family's Prestige
At St. Francis, May 20.—With his wedding only two weeks off, Edward Duke of Windsor today declared a fight to a finish with his English exiles.

The principal bone of contention is the decision of the British royal family to allow the Duke of Windsor to marry the American actress, Wallis Warfield, at his wedding June 3, at St. Francis.

He believes his brother and "successor," the English Prince George VI, is being unjustly influenced and deprived of his rights. He is being unjustly influenced and deprived of his rights.

after the marriage. Then, as far as we are concerned, it is a matter of description in Debutante's page.

"Pending a ruling to the contrary, either by the court circular or by the college of heralds, we will merely describe her as the wife of his royal highness, the Duke of Windsor."

"But, as in all these cases, we will submit the text to the parties concerned for their approval. Their objections and amendments are always respected."

At the office of Burke's Peerage, London, the text of the royal warrant was being prepared.

The College of Heraldry, which officially ranks royalty and nobility in accordance with the court's decisions, declined to give any information on the future status of Mrs. Warfield.

Herman L. Rogers, spokesman for the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield, indicated that the American, who would automatically become "Her Royal Highness" upon her marriage to the former King.

Malden Police Chase Burglars For 28 Miles

Malden police chased two burglars 28 miles in a stolen automobile through three cities and back to Malden again today, reaching a 20-mile-an-hour clip and firing a series of shots, but the fugitives escaped.

It all started when a police cruiser was going through the Linden Garage in Lynn street. An automobile outside the garage pulled away, fast, police said.

The chase started. The fugitive machine, with two men in the front seat, sped toward Revere. It went through Ray city, through Chelsea and Everett and then doubled back to Malden.

Once the police got lost sight of the speeding bandits, they caught up with them. The race ended in Davis street, Malden. The stolen car was abandoned there.

Investigation disclosed that the Linden Garage had been burglarized by forcing a window with a punch bar.

Seven automobiles inside were stripped of their radios, although the two men in the car, who were not taken away, stated in other machines were disconnected.

Small tools were found in the abandoned automobile. The stolen car was the property of James Cahill of Glenmont street.

Wedding Bells, Not 'Bon Voyage'
New York, May 20 (AP)—A party that was planned as a bon voyage party turned into a wedding party at the famous "little church around the corner" with the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Richardson Park of Raleigh, N. C., to Marcus George Lynch of New York.

The bride, daughter of John A. Park, publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer, was married to Marcus George Lynch of New York.

Malden Wife Held In New York on Kidnap Charge

A Malden mother was arrested in New York today on a warrant charging her with kidnaping her 19-year-old son, reported missing from in front of his home last Sunday.

According to Malden police, Mrs. Caroline Blair, 30, is separated from her husband, Robert N. Blair, who obtained the kidnap warrant. Malden district court last Monday.

Malden police forwarded the warrant to New York after Blair told them he believed she had taken the child, whose custody he has been awarded by the court.

Mrs. Blair was arrested in the home of her sister, Mrs. Kate Brooks, in Astoria, Queens, but she said she had heard her son was in Brooklyn, but on the advice of her counsel she refused to disclose his whereabouts.

According to New York police, Mrs. Blair said her son had been left in his father in a Malden rooming house on the "hook" the boy to give him proper treatment.

The father reported to police Sunday the youngster disappeared after he had gone out to play about 2:30 p. m. State police were asked to seek a car with a New York registration.

GREEN Estate Fight GROWS

"2 CHILDREN" REVEALED

New York, May 20 (AP)—A mysterious reference to "my two daughters" by the supposedly childless multimillionaire, Colonel Edward H. R. Green, was described today by a witness in the $70,000,000 Green will dispute.

The alleged revelation Green may have left other possible heirs to the fabulous estate created a stir in the courtroom, heralding further complications in the long-fought court battle.

Wilbur K. Potter, former business agent for Colonel Green, dropped at the disclosure.

"I never heard of Colonel Green having any daughters, or any children," he said.

ARTICLE HAD GREEN'S O.K.

The testimony of Green having "two daughters" came from Henry Woodhouse, president of the Aerial League of America, who said that the June, 1935, issue of a magazine called "Flying" contained a brief sketch of Colonel Green.

The article, he said, was handed to him previously by Colonel Green, who he said, apparently had either written it himself or approved it.

The magazine article, introduced as evidence, ended with the words: "Col. Green's two daughters are also members of the Aerial League."

No further reference to the alleged "two daughters" was made in the days' hearing of the dispute, which centers on the attempt of four states—Massachusetts, New York, Texas and Florida—to collect taxes on the huge fortune.

An attempt also is being made by the estate's widow, Mrs. Mabel Green, in abrogate a prenuptial agreement giving up all claims to the estate in return for an $18,000 annuity for life.

CARETAKER ON STAND

In an effort to show that Col. Green maintained only a summer home in Massachusetts, at his Round Hill estate near Danvers, Mass., Mrs. Green's attorney introduced George Joyce, of New Bedford, Mass., caretaker of the Round Hill estate, as a witness.

Joyce testified that his employer, always left Round Hill in December, virtually closing up the palatial estate for the winter while he went South.

Mrs. Palmer Scott, a real estate operator of South Dartmouth, Mass., testified that relatives in the vicinity of Round Hill were "nearly summer homes."

Cambridge Boy Image of Lindy

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH
And That's His Right Name, Too!

Ten years ago today Charles A. Lindbergh of St. Louis landed in Paris.

Ten years ago today Charles A. Lindbergh of Cambridge was born in Central Hospital, Somerville.

Today Charles A. Lindbergh of Cambridge, celebrating his tenth birthday, is the very image of pictures of the now famous Colonel Lindbergh when he was a 10-year-old boy. Like for like feature for feature, he matches the boyhood photograph of the flier.

And there hangs this tale.

REAL NEWS, OIL BOY:

Ten years ago Patrolman Horace Lindbergh of 27 Healy street, a veteran police officer in the Roman square district, rang in his call box in Cambridge street.

He had just become a father, he was informed. His wife had just given birth at the Somerville Hospital to a son.

His chest expanded. His night stick swung in more vigorous assurance. Patrolman Lindbergh walked down the street all right with the world.

In the business district, people were throwing confetti, cheering, waving at Patrolman Lindbergh.

10 YEARS AGO LINDY'S HOP ROCKED THE WORLD

Unknown Flier Did 'Impossible' to Win Undying Fame

"New York, May 20, 1927 (AP)—Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, of Connecticut, was known around pilot took off from Roosevelt Field today on a projected non-stop flight to Paris."

Cracking over the wires 10 years ago today, that message gave the world one of the greatest thrills and wrote the first chapter of a story in which achievement, adventure, romance and tragedy were strangely intermingled.

Veteran pilots shook their heads as the trail craft disappeared eastward. It couldn't be done, they said—it was suicide to attempt a solo flight in a single-engine plane across the broad Atlantic.

Thirty-three hours and 30 minutes after taking off from the rain-soaked runway, Lindbergh answered his critics by setting the wheels of his silver-gray monoplane down on Le Bourget field, outside of Paris.

Despite the parade of sea flights that have followed in the last decade, that New York-Fair flight will always stand alone.

"I Did It: Why Should I Celebrate?" Asks Lindy

SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS THAT LINDY FLEW TO PARIS

his country home, Long Barn, in the manner of a man who has never achieved fame and never wants to.

"I did it. Why should I celebrate it?" Lindbergh was quoted by a friend as having answered when questioned about his plans for the anniversary of the flight he made a decade ago.

A steady stream of congratulatory telegrams pointed in on the flying colossus but there were no telephone calls.

DISCONNECTS PHONE

Lindbergh has ordered telephone disconnected so that even well-wishers will have no chance to disturb the peace and privacy which he fled from the United States to England to seek in December, 1926.

Lindbergh's only plan for the day was to spend it quietly—just as he spends most of his other days—with Mrs. Lindbergh and their little son, Jon.

"SLIM" IN 1927

"How am I going to celebrate?"

"See it's 10 years today," the villagers said when informed of the fact.

"Well . . . he's a fine man, friendly and nice."

And they let it go at that.

"He and the family seem so

serenely happy," was Lindbergh's friend's summation of their life 10 years after.

Refuses to Join Celebration of Achievement

"I am not," Lindbergh was quoted as saying by the friend who recently spent two days at Long Barn.

"If anybody else wants to, all right. But I won't participate in any observance."

NEIGHBORS NOT THRILLED

The residents of this little Scotch village, who have accepted Lindbergh as just another human being, were about their business with hardly a thought of him or the drama of the May morning 10 years ago when he rose "The Spirit of St. Louis" into the mist hanging over the Atlantic.

They talked conversation today—not aviation. Not one in a hundred of his village neighbors knew he was concerned to find out that the famed Lindbergh flight anniversary was today.

"See it's 10 years today," the villagers said when informed of the fact.

"Well . . . he's a fine man, friendly and nice."

And they let it go at that.

"He and the family seem so

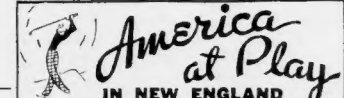

serenely happy," was Lindbergh's friend's summation of their life 10 years after.

SOVIETS KILL 44 JAPANESE, NAZI SPIES

Moscow, May 20 (INS)—With Germany and Japan again alleged to be linked to spying activities in the U. S. S. R., Soviet justice swept a wide swath today with the execution of 44 saboteurs-alleged to be working for the Axis.

All were employees of the Far Eastern Railway and one was a woman. They were taken to jail immediately after the Supreme Court and military tribunal sentenced them to death in a sensational mass trial.

OTHER TRIALS LOOM

From wreckage, other forms of espionage and espionage, "on behalf of Germany and Japanese intelligence agents," were charged against the 44, according to press dispatches.

Precisely further mass trials throughout the union, they were also alleged to have "Trotskyite connections—the charge that has not been of the highest Soviet officials in their dooms."

Admission of the trials of Henry G. Yagoda, former head of the GPU, Nikolai Bukharin, former editor, and others accused of "Trotskyite" activities is now considered for.

STRAINS RELATIONS

Further straining of relations between the Soviet Union and two of the countries which have allied against Communism, Germany and Japan, is also expected as a result of the spying charges.

These two countries were boldly named as connected with Leon Trotsky, the exiled Bolshevik, in previous Moscow "show trials." Yagoda lies on Russia's vital railway line on Russia's vital railway line, a road which she is now converting into a double line for transportation of war materials and troops. Sabotage has greatly impeded this work, it has been charged.

U. S. Court Holds Man, Wife for Taxi Kidnaping

Facing possible life sentences under the Lindbergh kidnaping law, a Lawrence man and his attractive young wife were arraigned in Federal court today.

The husband not guilty to two indictments secretly returned yesterday by a federal grand jury charging kidnaping, abduction and return of a Lawrence taxi driver, and conspiracy to violate the interstate commerce law.

Named in the indictments are Jack Benson, about 26, a former inmate of Michigan State prison, and his wife, Mrs. Rheta Benson, 21.

The taxi driver, Roland Robichaud, 24, of Lawrence, identified them as two of three persons who held him up at gunpoint after he had been called by an attractive young woman to an address on Dancy street, Lawrence, on December 4.

He said they forced him on threat of his life to drive them halfway across the continent to University City, Mo., where they escaped in a fuselage of bullets, after holding up a filling station.

Benson and his wife were arraigned in Detroit, after being traced by fingerprints found in their Lawrence apartment.

Two attorneys today came forth to represent Mrs. Benson, saying they had been retained by relatives.

Judge Elmer H. Brewster held the Bensons in $10,000 each for trial Tuesday.

Advertising Dean Is Honored at Big Dinner

More than 400 men and women, members of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, gathered at the Copley Plaza Hotel last night to pay tribute to Henry B. Humphrey, outstanding Boston advertising man.

Ernest V. Alley was chairman of the testimonial dinner, and William H. Johns the toastmaster. The speakers were John Benson, president of the association; Tilton S. Bell and Mr. Humphrey.

"I do not believe people are ever fooled," said Mr. Humphrey, "and it is a sinful waste of money to try to fool anyone."

He emphasized the fact that in the 50 years that he has been the head of his own agency advertising has become not only bigger but better.

Other speakers paid their respects to the man who has been the head of his own agency since he was 22 years old. The history of his exploits in the advertising field here in Boston, where he has spent his business life, was recounted.

SHARP DECLINE IN ORDERS FOR MASS. GOODS

The Associated Industries of Massachusetts today announced a sharp, but seasonal, decline in orders for the products of Massachusetts mills and factories in the month of April as compared with the large volume of orders reported in March.

Textile orders showed an index drop from 140.7 in March to 92.2 in April, due, the announcement stated, to reactions from better months preceding. In some cases, it pointed out, there were cancellations, indicating over-buying.

The index recession in the metal trades, particularly in orders for machinery, from 144.2 in March to 126.8 in April, the announcement said, was probably a natural reaction from the unusual increase in March. The April volume of orders in metal trades remained high, the report said.

Leather and shoes showed an index decline from 75.5 in March to 62.5 in April but it was pointed out that this drop followed a distinctly seasonal trend.

The index used by the Associated Industries is set at 100, based on reports from 200 representative manufacturing concerns of the percentage of their average month in the year 1926.

"Dad—what makes Americans different from other people?"

THAT'S pretty hard to explain, my boy . . .

Let's see . . . why are Americans different?

Well—maybe it's their love for freedom. Freedom—and the courage to hold on to it at any cost.

That means freedom from worry, too—and from uncertainty. Another word for this is security.

For example—only seven out of every hundred people in the world are Americans . . . yet they own more life insurance than all the rest of the world put together!

Sixty-four million of them are building up security for themselves and their loved ones, step by step, the American way—through life insurance.

For Americans are self-reliant people. They don't believe in trusting their future to luck. Not when it's so easy to achieve peace of mind and freedom from uncertainty—through life insurance.

Perhaps that is why Americans are different. Perhaps that is why America is the grandest spot on the globe—a great nation—a better nation. Its people dwell in security!

PAROLE BILL ADVANCES

A bill to amend the law governing the parole of prisoners in the State House is the subject of a bill introduced today in the State House. The bill was introduced by Senator David M. Brockton. The bill would allow the parole of prisoners who have served at least one-third of their term. The bill would also allow the parole of prisoners who have been recommended for parole by the State Board of Prison Commissioners.

"I am perfectly satisfied that the move is to get out of the number because of his race. If they want to do any more members of the board there is no reason why they can't amend the present provision to add two new members."

Later in the session, a bill of Governor James M. Collins, and P. Taylor, Boston, were introduced to the house.

I can't help wishing that Justice Van Devanter had stuck out to the bitter end of the unfortunate end as the case may be. I should have liked to see this present Supreme Court go down into history as the group that stuck together in the face of one of the greatest pressures a court has ever known in the history of the country.

There is not to say that Mr. Justice Van Devanter hasn't earned his retirement ten times over in the third of a century, more or less, since President Taft appointed him to the court. He has earned the right to rest. There can be no question of this in these circumstances.

After the court is inclined to consider the case, it is a duty during the summer months when one is not in the office, that he shall cry "It's the end of the case of the captain and the crew."

It is a very young man's point of view. I suppose we have no idea of the pressure and the strain that has been brought to bear on the nine old men of the present court.

MR. BOSTON

Circus Atmosphere
At Suffolk Downs
Turf Followers
Optimistic Lot

By JACK CONWAY

IF YOU WISH to get some real race track color, I would suggest that you go over to Suffolk Downs and wander around the stables where hundreds of thoroughbreds are arriving from other racing plants in different parts of the country.

Some of the horses are being shipped here by train, while others are making the trip from Maryland and Narragansett Park by auto vans.

Many of the horses which race at Suffolk Downs are kept at Narragansett Park, and when they are listed to show their speed are shipped from Pawtucket, R. I., to East Boston by auto vans. The 44-mile trip over the road does not seem to bother the thoroughbreds in the least.

There are many shipments from Maryland among the daily arrivals at Suffolk Downs.

The days before the opening of a race meeting always remind me of the coming of a circus. As a youngster, I used to go to the old Huntington avenue grounds to take a peek at the elephants and other animals back in the days when the circus was held under a tent.

You get many of the same types of people around a race track that you meet at a circus. They are carefree souls who like to travel and who believe that their personal fortune is always to be made in the next town.

RACE TRACK FOLLOWERS BROKE

THE PEOPLE who work around the various racing stables are always broke. They get too many tips from their own good. The fact that an occasional tip proves the real McCoy makes them incurable. They will always go for the last minute information from the old feed box.

Most of the attendants at the racing stables love horses. Otherwise they would never put up with the many hardships that go with the racing game.

You see attendants coming in aboard freight trains with their horses and also in the auto vans. Their work requires them to be on the job at 3 a. m. while they do not call it a day until 8 p. m.

It is a great life if you happen to like it, but the average person would toss in the sponge at the end of the week if he had one of the jobs around the racing stables.

I talked with many of the early arrivals at Suffolk Downs, and from them I feel the meeting at the East Boston track will be successful for their personality. Of course they told me their

HUBBELL WINS 22ND IN ROW

St. Louis, May 20.—Consistent Carl Hubbell, that amazing left-handed master of the screwball, ran his National League victory string to 22 straight games as he outpitched Dizzy Dean to give the New York Giants a 4 to 1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A crowd of 26,339 fans, one of the largest ever to witness a week-day game in St. Louis, watched Hubbell let the Cardinals down with six hits, strike out seven and continue the string of victories that began on July 17, 1936.

Hubbell was complete master. He did not allow more than one hit in the last two men to face him. In any one inning, did not give up a base on balls, and struck out the last two men to face him. The lone Cardinal run was the result of a home run by Dicky Medwick in the second.

Dizzy, claiming he burned himself lighting a cigarette the other day, pitched with his right thumb.

This caused his fast one to go awry at times, but the Giants claimed he was trying purposely to dust them off.

Ripple was one of those. He was forced to bite the dust in that now historic ninth. Pulling a leaf from Ty Cobb's richly engraved book, he tried to hunt along the first base line so that Dizzy would have to cover, and as he did the first baseman said to him, "He planned to have his say with his spikes, evidently."

His first attempt was a foul. The second was fouled by second baseman Brown and Ripple was off. But Ripple achieved his purpose when he covered the bag. He planned to have his say with his spikes, evidently.

In a split second fans were flying from all sides as players on both sides swarmed from rival dugouts. A half dozen private fights started. Then the pandemonium.

Mickey Owen and Gus Mancuso,

Cronin Back in Lineup Against Cleveland

By JOE CASHMAN

L. Trowbridge Collins took one look at the baseball of Cronin and tape Joseph Edward Cronin is carrying around on his left cheek bone and snuggled.

"What's the matter?" asked the manager. "This is only a scratch."

"Yes," murmured Cronin, "just a scratch which will scratch you out of the lineup for the rest of the week."

"The head is it," chirped Joe. "I'll be in there swinging against the Indians this afternoon."

And the Fenway manager insisted he had no time to lose about that. "I had planned to start yesterday had a game been played," he continued. "Why shouldn't I go right back? This injury doesn't affect my eye, my arm or my legs. It won't handicap me in any way."

TIGERS NEED PITCHING Except for his deputation on his foot, Cronin never looked better. He says he hasn't felt so good in years.

"Every ball player feels great when he is playing," exclaimed the boy pitcher, "and I've had the good fortune to do the best hitting of my career this spring."

"I've been hitting everything right on the nose too, which means to believe I can keep up the good work."

Joe raises Detroit the most impressive club he saw in the West. He says the Tigers are yet to have shown enough pitching to win out.

The big race, Joe predicts, will be the contest and most exciting in years, and he feels his club does a great chance of remaining in the thick of the struggle in the West.

JOE'S OUTLOOK FOR BOX "We'll get better as we go along," he asserted. "Our pitching and defense have been quite satisfactory but our hitting has been a little off."

"Suggers like Fox and Higgins are down below the .500 mark. They're bound to start climbing very soon. When they do, you won't be hearing many complaints about our hitting. We're O. K. in the box."

"I could use another winning pitcher, but so could every other club in the circuit. We could use field men for a heavy-hitting outfielder too, and maybe we'll have the luck to get one sooner or later."

"Right now, though, I'm in favor of getting Coffey, Sullivan and Mills further opportu-

ty. It wouldn't be fair to give up on these youngsters so quickly."

Talking a short while later with Steve O'Sullivan, Indiana manager, he discovered that he and Cronin have virtually the same slant on the American League race except as far as their respective clubs and the amazing Athletics are concerned.

O'SULLIVAN'S OPINION O'Neill thinks the race will be nip and tuck all the way with the Yankees, Tigers and Indians always dangerous. He says the Sox look about the same as last year and thinks their pitching could be a lot better.

"We've had great pitching even without Feller, and we'll have Bob back in top form very soon," stated the winning pitcher. "We have a powerful attack also, though we haven't shown it yet."

"Batters were in a slump before he took his white Trosky and Hale have had a terrible time getting started. To add to our trouble we've had more than our share of injuries."

"When, if ever, we get straightened away, we'll be tough to hit."

In top A's, as it is known, does when his ball is being dis-couraged by a fan.

"My theory," said O'Neill, "is that anything can happen in baseball, but I'm not counting the A's out of the running. I don't think they're the worst team in the league by any means, but anybody who profits at a club that's leading the parade is crazy."

"The Yanks are young and ambitious and so about every rocky over their success. Consequently they're much more dangerous in my book and will remain so until it's definitely proved that they're playing away over their heads."

MARK VINN ALLEN Cronin, however, can't see the Philadelphia entry, probably because the Sox drubbed them so soundly in the only two games these rivals have played.

"The A's have improved a lot," opined Joe, "and they have the speed and pep to cause a lot of trouble, but to my mind, that about lets them out. They haven't enough infield strength or hitting punch to figure prominently in the race."

O'Neill will stick to Johnny Al. In brilliant but temperamental right-hander, as his pitching choice of the Sox and Indians are able to resume and conclude their engagement this p. m.

The Wednesday postponement, though, has caused Cronin to shift from Robert Moore Grove to John. He says the Sox are a lot better than they were when they were in the lineup.

"I've had great pitching even without Feller, and we'll have Bob back in top form very soon," stated the winning pitcher. "We have a powerful attack also, though we haven't shown it yet."

"Batters were in a slump before he took his white Trosky and

Democracy Triumphs in Legislature

THE MASSACHUSETTS House and Senate, in joint convention, have approved a constitutional amendment for biennial sessions of the Legislature in place of annual meetings.

This important question will now go on the ballot for the people themselves to decide.

That is as it should be. Certainly legislators who collect as much as $800,000 a year in salaries and expenses have no right to compel the people to pay against their wishes.

Thus the 158 Senators and Representatives who voted favorably proved themselves faithful to the ideals of democracy.

Not so much can be said of some of the 112 who voted "no" and thereby sought to prevent their constituents from considering the biennial sessions issue.

Legislatures meeting every other year are not a novel, untried experiment. Forty-two of the forty-eight States have adopted this plan and most of them have found it the key to sound, intelligent economy.

Massachusetts ought not to be an exception.

Expose Every Red

MASSACHUSETTS' first official investigation of Communism, Fascism and subversive propaganda should be a model for the other forty-seven States of the Union.

Sponsored by Representative Sherman, authorized by the Legislature and approved by Governor Hurley, the inquiry should go THE WHOLE WAY.

There must be no immunity for individuals and organizations who, in the present and past, render their enemies of America.

Everyone knows that forces determined to overthrow our form of government are at work. We see them in our schools, in our churches and civic centers.

Only a blind man, or one in sympathy with their purposes, could deny their existence.

It is clearly the duty of the eleven citizens that will comprise the investigating commission to find and make public the names of the persons active in the advocacy of Communism and Fascism.

It is also their duty to learn who is financing and providing leadership in this infernal war on American and American institutions. THERE CAN BE NO COMPROMISE WITH THE ENEMY.

Representative Sherman's suggestion that election of ballots be a good one, and that should be one of the aims of the inquiry.

He tells us:

"As far back as 1920, the Federal Government passed a law that STILL HAVE THE COMMUNISTS ON OUR BALLOTS. They circumvent the law by getting a sufficient number of signatures to be candidates.

"We can and MUST stop this. I believe that we should pass a law that will prevent any subversive groups from being recognized by the State as candidates for office.

"Think of it. Here we not only tolerate Communists who are doing everything they can to destroy our form of government, yet we give them an official standing and OFFER THEM A HELPING HAND in their effort to get control of the very form of government they hope to tear down!

"It's a preposterous situation. This is indeed a preposterous situation, one that should not be tolerated longer.

We can no more overlook the Communist, the Fascist or the Anarchist than we could the foreign enemy besieging us with battleships and bomb-laden planes.

Massachusetts' war on subversive organizations must be thorough. MASSACHUSETTS MUST SET AN EXAMPLE FOR THE WHOLE COUNTRY TO FOLLOW.

Pass the Collins Bill

CONGRESS must not fail to pass at this session the pending Collins Bill, which is designed to give the enlarged regular Army an adequate number of dentists to care for the enlisted men.

According to Representative Hill, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, the need for an increased dental corps has become "compelling."

During the last three years, Representative Hill points out, 47,000 SOLDIERS have been enlisted. . . . ONLY 25 ADDITIONAL DENTISTS have been provided to attend these thousands of men.

This negligence imposes an impossible task upon the Army Dental Corps.

Two years ago the Congress corrected a similar condition in the Navy by appropriating sufficient funds to provide one dentist for every 600 enlisted men.

The Collins Bill proposes simply to establish the same ratio for the Army, and the bill has been given the official endorsement of the American Dental Association.

School children are taught nowadays that infected teeth are a constant cause of serious and sometimes of incurable maladies, and that systematic and scientific care of the teeth is an essential to good health.

Nowhere is it more important that health should be safeguarded than in the various branches of the national defense.

The Crushing Overhead

THE report of the Civil Service Commission on the number of persons now on the government payrolls brings to the attention once again one of the gravest dangers confronting our country — BUREAUCRATIC OLIGARCHY.

On April 1 there were 629,100 persons, exclusive of the Legislative, Judicial and Military branches of the government, on the public payrolls.

This means on YOUR payroll, for every man, woman and child in America pays these employes in one way or another.

The report of the Commission further shows that from 1933 to 1937 the increase in non-civil service employes was 100 PER CENT. Most of these are purely political appointees—and serve their masters first and THE PUBLIC LAST.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

New York, May 20—From time immemorial, suchplace pianists have been coming to the Blind Tom who found out their way through the streets along the Hudson in the Chinatown section, and the Roumanian restaurants along Second avenue.

Most played by ear and depended on their picked notes for a living.

Come unity the appearance of the fashionably attired blind British pianist, Alec Thompson.

O. O. McIntyre

In the swanky Rainbow Room offered a new note in night club fare. Young personable and jolly in his manner, he makes no conscious effort to attract attention.

He is a pianist at Carnegie Hall brought out the biggest audience of the season.

As he plays chords, they sound forces and unrelated as to key. But he can with them produce a beautiful melody and brilliant composition one almost never heard. Another of his talents is to receive impressions of people and produce musical portraits of them. His patron is Walter Chrysler, Jr.

Webb Miller, war correspondent, owns two unusual characters. One is a silver, covered with signatures of notable—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Franklin D. Brand, Clemenceau and Gandhi. The Gandhi signature is the reason for two names.

The Mahatma agreed to give Miller his signature on the condition the case would never be used for anything against a person.

Hetty Green's Millions

The Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

W. P. Allen, a banker from Texas, was testifying:

"In 1911, I asked him what he thought his mother intended to do with his $500,000. She was only 18 years old. He said she would never touch it. His reply was never touch it. He never took a look in her life. She never sold that railroad without taking a loss. So I advised him to take it with her. He said, 'I will do it, Mr. Allen.'"

This is one of the hundreds of incidents which have been added to the history of Hetty Green and her family by reason of the present litigation over the $700,000 estate of the late Colonel Edward H. Green.

Another witness, a Negro politician, told how Hetty's son walked into the Republican Convention in Texas in 1896 and announced that he would vote for Bryan. He said that he had heard of Hetty's son.

"He told us," said the witness, "that his mother had advised him that since he had all the money he needed he should go out and get some publicity. A friend of the family, in New York, told me that he had heard Colonel Green say:

"Texas is my home, Florida my playground and New York my business office."

But the story began about 10 years ago when he kept $100,000 in deposits in one bank; how he was a 22nd degree Mason; how he was the New York City's favorite team; and how, when vanderbilt was in New York, he never missed a week at the old Palace Theater.

A STRANGE FAMILY
Green's family is stuff that novels are made of. Even Dickens could produce a more colorful character than the New England mother and her London-born son.

He kept apace of the times, had the first automobile in Texas and the first radio in New York City. He was a radio and television. He loved life, money and power.
